At the request of Senator Perdue's Office:

This semester, we have an Agricultural Fellow from Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College (ABAC) working with our Agriculture Legislative Staff. The idea behind the fellowship is for Madison to learn about the D.C. Ag world and hopefully inspire an interest in the Ag policy. She has been really great and we have really enjoyed having her.

Yesterday Madison has telling me how much she admires Secretary Perdue and her dream this semester in D.C. would to meet him if possible. I was curious if Secretary Perdue ever did photo ops with interns (or something like that), and, if so, would it be possible for her to squeeze in to one?

Judson Turner from Visioneering America, Inc. They are in process of filing our paperwork with the IRS for tax exempt status, but have had some success raising the necessary funds to begin our first big project. It involves work in lower Flint River (GA) basin. He mentioned this project to the Secretary back before Christmas of 2016, before his appointment as Secretary of USDA. Given that the project is moving into full speed, he would like to give the Secretary an update. This is regarding Flint-Ag water use an habitat conservation planning.

Student Diversity Program Meet and Greet -- 200A Conference

Student Diversity Program Group

It was 2007 when USDA's Agricultural Outlook Forum Student Diversity Program was launched. The participants major in agriculture-related studies, including business, economics, communications, nutrition, food science, and veterinary studies. Finalists are selected from land-grant universities, Hispanic-serving institutions, and non-land-grant colleges of agriculture. The Program is supported by academic and government institutions and corporations dedicated to promoting the education of the next generation of agriculturalists. This year's sponsoring organizations include the University of Maryland Eastern Shore and Farm Credit. USDA sponsors include the Agricultural Research Service; Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service; Economic Research Service, National Agricultural Statistics Service; Natural Resources Conservation Service; Office of Advocacy and Outreach; and the Office of the Chief Economist.

20 Undergraduates (Junior and Senior level only), 10 graduate students, they come from 1862, 1890 and Hispanic Serving institutions with qualifying programs.

To go along with our improvement in the "Best Places to Work" scorecard this week, there is good news that we can pass along related to recognition of specific USDA employees. As you may know, OPM has a Presidential Rank Award process that recognizes high performing Senior Executives for either sustained extraordinary accomplishment or sustained accomplishment.

Winners for the 2016 performance year (but referred to as FY 2017 Presidential Rank Awards) have been identified. OPM has approved our ability to notify Presidential Rank Award winners they have won. We have informed the agencies who have winners, but they have not informed their employees yet. .

Breakfast at FIA Boca on Wednesday, March 14 from 8:00a-9:30a ET in Boca Raton, Florida. However, it may be a moot point if he already has a conflict.

If he is interested and available, we are happy to discuss the format. We've had Jeff Sprecher (Founder, Chairman and CEO of ICE and Chairman of the New York Stock Exchange) do a fireside chat interview in the past. The ICE Energy Breakfast is held in conjunction with an industry conference - FIA (Futures Industry Association) Boca. The event draws 1,000+ C-level and senior executives from the futures, exchanges and banking industries from around the globe. Given all the asset classes the USDA touches and ever growing importance of the industry, we would be honored to have the Secretary headline the event.

11:00 AM - 11:45 AM

Meeting with New Assistant Secretary of the Army for Civil Works, R. D. James
He will be traveling with his military aide, LTC Joseph Goetz

Senate confirms R.D. James to head U.S. Army Corps of Engineers: The Senate voted 89-1 on Jan. 25 to confirm President Trump's nomination of R.D. James to head the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, which oversees construction and rehabilitation projects and dredging of the U.S. inland waterways and ports. James, whose official title will be assistant secretary of the Army for Civil Works, most recently served as a civilian member and engineer on the Mississippi River Commission, originally appointed in 1981 by President Ronald Reagan. In that capacity, he provided water resources engineering direction and policy advice to several administrations, Congress, and the U.S. Army for a drainage basin that covers roughly 41 percent of the United States. James is a self-employed farmer and manager of cotton gins and grain elevators in New Madrid, Mo. He is a recipient of the Bronze de Fleury medal for his significant contributions to Army engineering. James received his degree in civil engineering from the University of Kentucky.

American Soybean Association (ASA) Officers

Attendees:

ASA Chairman Ron Moore

Vice President Davie Stephens

Ryan Findlay, CEO
John Gordley, Director, Washington Office
Beverly Paul, Assistant Director, Washington Office

We are particularly interested in discussing the Administration's position regarding trade with China. As you know, China currently imports one-third of annual U.S. soybean production. We are aware that decisions on a number of trade-related issues must be made this year, and are concerned about the potential for disruption in our access to the China market.

ASA is closely engaged on a number of other key trade issues, including negotiations to modernize NAFTA, renegotiate KORUS, and determine the future role of the WTO. We also support efforts to find international consensus on trade in biotech commodities, and for crops developed using innovative plant breeding techniques, such as gene editing. We believe ensuring access to global markets for these yield-enhancing crops is essential to meeting the goal of feeding the world's growing population in the next 30 years.

ASA has also been actively involved in domestic issues that affect our soybean industry and all U.S. agriculture. These include development of the 2018 Farm Bill, regulation of biotechnology and plant breeding innovations, increased funding for agricultural research, and biofuels policies. We would like to discuss how ASA can be helpful in advancing the Administration's agenda for reaching agreement for funding much-needed infrastructure improvements, which are key to our international competitiveness.

The event will begin with a panel and SP would give 15 minute remarks. They have also asked if he would do 15 minutes of Q &A- I will defer to advance and COMS on that. Below is panel info:

Moderator: Max Armstrong, This Week in AgriBusiness, Farm Progress

Panelists:

Zippy Duvall, President, American Farm Bureau Federation

Mark & Angie Ulness, John Deere Outstanding Young Farmers

Emily Buck, Ph.D., Associate Professor at The Ohio State University, USFRA's Face of Farming & Ranching

John Teeple, Director of Advanced Technology, John Deere

Sarah Hendren, Nutrition and Quality Assurance Manager, Culver's

Panel discussion theme: The Consumer, the Farmer and Sustainability

Consumers want to be more in touch with where their food comes from now more than ever. And research shows Americans are increasingly confident with the way farmers and ranchers grow and raise food in the U.S. However, is agriculture's voice still missing from the conversation, and are consumers privy to the sustainable practices of today's farmers and ranchers? The word "sustainability" brings ire from some, support from others, but what does sustainability actually mean? In this forward-thinking panel, panelists will discuss how they see the change in this definition is altering how they do business; and defining new opportunities for their operations.

Sustainability is a hot topic that many farm and consumer groups continue to debate. It's a topic that agriculture can use to inspire others, elevating farmers, ranchers and the future of our industry. This special Ag Day panel will help define the "rules of engagement" for discussing this key issue and ways that people in agriculture can spark impactful dialogue.

2018 National 4-H Council Legacy Awards

The 9th annual Legacy Awards will celebrate the life-changing impact of 4-H, America's largest youth development organization. This unique and compelling event convenes 500 esteemed guests, including 4-H alumni, celebrities, elected officials, corporate leaders and other 4-H supporters. The program will honor the 2018 4-H Youth in Action winners for their extraordinary work in agriculture, science, healthy living and citizenship. Support of this event and Cooperative Extension's 4-H programs will help the 4-H system reach its goal of growing 4-H from six million to 10 million young people by 2025.

Honorable Sonny Perdue

Secretary, U.S. Department of Agriculture

The Lincoln Vision Award - The Abraham Lincoln Vision award recognizes our 16th President's role in establishing Land Grant Universities, which operate 4-H as part of their mission to improve the quality of life of the America people through education. The award is presented to an individual whose contributions to the 4-H movement exemplify the philosophy of "knowledge to use" and service to the people. The award was established shortly after 4-H celebrated the Centennial anniversary as National 4-H Council held the first Legacy Awards. It has been reserved for special individuals. It has only been presented to USDA Secretary Dan Glickman. The adding of Secretary Perdue to this list will "keep the bar set high" for all future Lincoln Award considerations

Presidential Rank Award Information:

For USDA, there is one Distinguished Executive winner and two Meritorious Professional winners. A Distinguished Executive is awarded for "sustained extraordinary accomplishment" and a Meritorious Senior Professional is awarded for "sustained accomplishment." The PRAs are reserved for those that are recognized throughout the agency and/or acknowledged on a national or international level and have reached a pinnacle of achievement. For career SES employees, rank award recipients will also have demonstrated strong leadership abilities, inspired their employees, and earned the respect of those they service. For career SL/ST employees with a sustained record of professional, technical, and/or scientific achievement, rank award recipients will also have inspired their colleagues and earned their stakeholders' respect.

Meeting with the CEO of Smithfield Foods, Mr. Ken Sullivan

To discuss the business operations and structure of Smithfield Foods as well as other important issues facing the company.

On behalf of Smithfield Foods, I am writing to respectfully request a meeting with you to discuss our business operations as well as important issues facing Smithfield, such as international trade.

A $15-billion global food company, and the world's largest hog producer and pork processor, Smithfield employs more than 42,000 people in 26 states in the U.S. and 50,000 worldwide. Smithfield has added 3,700 new American jobs and invested nearly $1 billion in its U.S. operations since 2013. We are committed to providing good food in a responsible way and maintain robust animal care, community involvement, employee safety, environmental, and food safety and quality program

Meeting with American Beverage Association's Board of Directors -- 104A (The Williamsburg Room)
They hope to thank the Secretary for his ongoing work and discuss three principle topics: American Beverage Association's "Balance Calories Initiative" designed to reduce beverage calories consumed by 20% by 2025; industry innovation in the low-and-no calorie space; reform (restriction) efforts under the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program

General Talkers

- The department appreciates the update on the ABA's Balance Calories Initiative and the innovation taking place within the industry to meet consumer demand.
- USDA looks forward to strengthening its partnership with the American Beverage Association as we continue to encourage healthier lifestyles.

Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) Restriction Efforts

- In January, the USDA denied Maine and Nevada's waiver requests to restrict certain categories of food purchases with SNAP.
- USDA appreciates the feedback the ABA provided on this matter.
- The department maintains that picking winners and losers in the food industry is not an effective means of government intervention.
- In addition, the department believes allowing restrictions could lead to increased administrative costs for the SNAP program and retail community, as well as significant burdens on small businesses.

Trade Meeting with Stakeholders

Meeting with Zippy Duvall (AFBF), Chuck Conner (NCFC), Chris Novak (NCGA) and Randy Russell

There are several factors regarding the President's trade actions that are focused on China and China's responses that have substantially raised tensions high at the grassroots level for virtually all of the agricultural organizations. Rather than ask for a big meeting, Zippy, Chuck, Chris and Randy felt a small group/close hold meeting with the Secretary (and no plus ones on their end) to discuss these issues would be helpful as we work to strike the tough balance between meeting our grassroots members' expectations relative to voicing our concerns while not creating problems for the Secretary and others fighting on our behalf

Briefing before Meeting with the Board of Directors of American Association of Crop Insurers (AACI)

2:00 PM - 2:30 PM

Meeting with the Board of Directors of American Association of Crop Insurers (AACI) -- 200A Conference Room

The importance of crop insurance to production agriculture and rural economies across our nation cannot be overstated. With the support of USDA, the public-private partnership continues to deliver the primary risk management tool for protecting against natural disasters and global market disruptions.

An example of the value of this collaboration is the balanced and long-term vision you brought to the implementation of the recent disaster assistance funding. AACI looks forward to working with you to help assure these successes continue and are fostered in any outcomes that may be part of the 2018 Farm Bill.

Annual Financial Management Training (FMT) Event -- Walter E. Washington Convention Center

The USDA, Office of the Chief Financial Officer, Financial Management Services (FMS) will be hosting the annual Financial Management Training (FMT) event in Washington, D.C., May 21-23, 2018.

FMT was initiated to achieve mass financial manager education in a very cost-effective way while also promoting working partnerships among agency personnel. FMS expects to host approximately 500 USDA and customer related personnel and to afford participants an opportunity to earn up to 20 Continuing Professional Education (CPE) credits.

Tuesday

This year's theme is Focusing on Customers. Session topics are being planned to showcase how the financial services FMS provides to our USDA client agencies support the business of the nation's farmers and ranchers as we strive to "Do right and feed everyone." We hope to spotlight the new Farm Production and Conservation mission area and to include subjects highlighting the role FMS solutions play in supporting rural America.

Meeting with Judson Turner and Allen Barnes

" We had discussions with USFWS about the HCP Ag project and they are very interested in funding a major portion of this project, We would apply this fall but grants are selected next spring. We would like to come to DC to meet with you for an update and discuss potential options to expedite this matter if you have any open time."

In early February, we met with the Secretary to discuss some preliminary work we were doing related to agricultural water use in the Lower Flint Basin in Georgia and the surface water, drought-related impacts that we have been seeing in key tributaries of the Flint River, several of which are critical habitat for listed species. Since that meeting, we have had additional discussions with the United States Fish & Wildlife Service, Ecological Services Field Supervisor for Georgia about this work and the upcoming work related to the development of a Habitat Conservation Plan for the basin. In addition to discussions with USFWS, we have had additional discussions with USDA staff about targeted research that would be valuable to the HCP project and other USDA priorities. We wanted to update the Secretary on these discussions.

Security Clearance Refresher Training

WHAT: USDA Security Classification Guide. This document covers categories of information deemed to be classified at the SECRET level by the Secretary.

IMPORTANCE: Only the Secretary can classify information at USDA. All others have to use this guide, or another department's guide/source document, to determine classification.

BACKGROUND: This is an updated version from the last guide signed by the previous Secretary. This improved version answers a request from USDA agencies relative to classification of scientific information that could expose vulnerabilities for our adversaries. Subject matter experts (scientists and security experts) from APHIS, ARS, FSIS, NIFA, and REE/OCS have reviewed, and all edits included. USDA experts verified the protections provided in this document will not hamper current work, but will protect our food and agriculture system. It is an appropriate balance. We also consulted with the Department of Health and Human Services and the Environmental Protection Agency since they do related work.

Meeting with Jamie and U/S Northey Re: Wetlands Conservation Provisions

Mr. Secretary:

It came to my attention today about a stakeholder meeting that Acting Chief Jordan of NRCS is having on this Wednesday, July 25. Our Ducks Unlimited staff in Washington, DC received an invitation to this meeting by the attached email. The email noted that they were providing updates concerning wetlands conservation provisions and determinations for compliance. As you are aware, conservation compliance was relinked with crop insurance in the last farm bill preventing farmers from draining potholes on their farms and qualifying for government support. I am concerned that changes that may weaken swamp-buster regulations could and would negatively impact waterfowl populations along with many other species and all the other great benefits that wetlands provide to all of us.

Mr. Sonny, Ducks Unlimited and NRCS has had a long history of working together for the good of our farmers, landowners and the wildlife community. All I am asking is for NRCS to hold off on announcing any interim regulations and give us an opportunity at Ducks Unlimited to review and give input on these changes. The points mentioned in the email are central to maintaining wetlands critical for waterfowl so we are particularly sensitive to any changes that we haven't had a chance to discuss.

As a fellow farmer, duck hunter and most importantly conservationist, I ask you to please look into this matter for all of us who love our outdoors and all that it has to offer. I have spent my entire adult working and professional life preserving and restoring wetlands for the good of our farm and our environment. I don't want to see it go to waste and not see the magnificent migration of waterfowl every fall.

Thank you for your time and attention to this matter,

George H. Dunklin, Jr.
Past President of Ducks Unlimited, 2013-2015

- Andrew MacCartney, Georgia Public Broadcasting, Vice President for Education & Digital Media
- Laura Evans, Georgia Public Broadcasting, Director of Education
- Ember Bentley, Executive Director, Georgia Forestry Foundation (a division of GFA)

We will be presenting a cutting-edge education outreach program that was developed by Georgia Public Broadcasting with support of the Georgia Forestry Foundation, a division of the Georgia Forestry Association. It includes virtual reality tours of forests and forest operations (mills, harvesting, etc.) as well as an online curriculum that aligns to STEAM standards.

This is the only program of its kind in the country and will be unveiled to teachers in Georgia this fall. As we continue to grow this program, we believe that it will have application across the country as a way of connecting educators, students and the average American to the products, careers, and sustainability of the forestry, agriculture and natural resource sectors in a cost-effective manner that is easily scalable.

We will need access to the room about 30 minutes prior to the meeting to connect to a large tv monitor where we will be able to display the content and virtual reality experience. For clarity, we will not bring a tv monitor with us, unless you advise us to do so.

Subcabinet Meeting --
Productivity Planning...

The Secretary will attend the Subcabinet meeting- Gary Washington and Gary's CoS will also brief the subcabinet on the new online dashboards. These dashboards catalogue numbers, dollar amounts, etc. on the different mission areas in USDA. SP would like to Ray, Blake, Don Bice, and the entire subcabinet to attend. He wants a review on how to utilize the dashboards and he will lay-out his expectations for the subcabinet using these dashboards.

the plan is for TM to host the call. He will introduce the Secretary. The Secretary can use the same TPs that he used for the press call today and can sign out after he delivers his TPs or stay as long as he wishes.

This type of call is screened and participants must be on the participant list. We will have Hailey listed so when she calls in she would need to identify herself. We (TM's office) will then get notified that she has joined in. The other participants on the call do not get notifications. Hailey will also need to identify the call she is joining. It is entitled "All Agricultural Advisors Conference Call-Mitigations" The call in number is: (b) (6)

The Secretary will speak at 5:30pm.

As a friend and important member of our sporting community, we would be honored to have you join us as the special guest speaker at our VIP Reception on Wednesday, September 5th. From across the community, conservation and industry leaders will be attending the reception, which is followed by the Banquet & Auction. This year's theme is "A Celebration of Congressional Sportsmen's Caucus: Our Leaders in Conservation." With more than sixty Members of the Congressional Sportsmen's Caucus in attendance, this is the largest sportsmen's dinner in Washington.

Your work as head of USDA is essential to our mission of sustaining the future of America's wildlife and its habitat. We are well aware of your love and interest in the outdoors and the support you are giving our efforts. Your appearance and address at the VIP Reception would be greatly appreciated Mr. Secretary. You will be amongst strong support and friends and they would appreciate hearing directly from you on the dedication and commitment that you have for America's Wildlife and Natural Resources.

Mrs. Perdue was also invited to attend.

This group is made up of our executives (SES) and Senior Leaders (SLs). It is not meant to be policy time. We could have a few of the members of the management council talk about our governance process and strategic plan (in line with that we could specifically highlight the annual plan for the upcoming year, which is very much in sync with the Secretary's priorities).

to meet with the group? be best to have one executive from each of our 8 program areas and then 2-3 other executives in key roles
